By Rev. Kimberlee Anne Tomczak Carlson,

adapted by Rev. Leia Durland-Jones

We seek a beloved community:

A people who do not put fences around love.

A community that holds its arms open to possibilities of love.

A heart-home to nourish our souls and share our gifts.

May the light of this chalice flame remind us of the love surrounding and supporting all.

May we each feel held by the gentle and fierce power of this love.

Deep calls unto deep, joy calls unto joy, light calls unto light.

As we extinguish this chalice and go out from this place let us take within each of us the inner light of love, of peace, of hope.

And “as one flame lights another, nor grows the less,”

So do we pledge ourselves to be bearers of the light, wherever we are.
